Blo-Line Couplings

Anaconda Belting Company markets a range of Pipe Couplings ideally suited to pneumatic conveying. The couplings hold the advantage of low cost and quick assembly which provide an economical method of connecting piping and tubing and ensuring fast sealing in pressure vacuum systems.

Also available are Quick Release Kits for Couplings which can be fitted to existing couplings and can reduce fitting and maintenance time and has a Security locking pin provided to ensure safety.

If you would like a price and availability on any of the couplings or any spares for your existing couplings please don't hesitate to contact us. We can supply loose nuts, washers and gaskets if needed.

If you have a non-standard size coupling then please let us know what size you have and we can price it up for you.

Key Features are: Low initial costs, light yet strong, accurate and rigidly aligned piping, leak proof seal, pipes easily connected and quickly dismantled, pipe erection simplified - lowering installation costs and they are re-usable.
